

Court To Review Ehrlichman Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A claim that burglaries are legitimate tools in the hands of a president responsible for protecting national security may be in for judicial examination.

Former White House domestic affairs chief John D. Ehrlichman, the principal public exponent of presidential right to break and enter, stands accused in the burglary that brought the issue to public attention.

He and three other former White House aides have been named in sealed indictments returned by a California grand jury in connection with 1971 break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Ehrlichman told the Senate Watergate committee he had no prior knowledge of the break-in conducted by the "Plumbers," a special White House unit. But he and his lawyer, John J. Wilson, argued strenuously that the burglary was "within the President's inherent power" to protect national security and pursue foreign intelligence.

They based their argument primarily on a 1972 Supreme Court decision dealing with wiretaps and bugging. The high court demanded prior judicial approval when such surveillance is used against domestic organizations in national security cases. But the court specifically reserved judgment on the question as it pertains to "activities of foreign powers or their agents."

Since then, a federal judge here has decided a case that seems to buttress their foreign intelligence argument, at least as far as electronic surveillance is concerned.

Last July U.S. District Court Judge John H. Pratt dismissed a suit brought by members of the militant Jewish Defense League for damages against the government for tapping JDL telephones in 1970 and 1971 without judicial approval. Pratt's decision is being appealed.

The league's activities against Soviet and Arab diplomats in the United States brought the league within the reach of "the President's constitutional authority to conduct the nation's foreign relations and his power to protect the national security," Pratt ruled.

Although Ellsberg released the Pentagon Papers to congressmen and U.S. newspapers, Ehrlichman said the government received information that the Soviet embassy also had received a copy, introducing a foreign intelligence aspect into the investigation.

Court Of Appeals To Hear Tape Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's fight to keep Watergate tape recordings secret has reached a federal appeals court, which agreed to hear the case in an unusual nine-judge session next week.

White House lawyers Thursday asked the U.S. Circuit Court to nullify U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's demand to listen to the tapes, which are sought as evidence by the Watergate grand jury.

The appeals court gave Sirica and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox until next Monday noon to reply to the White House arguments that the courts have no power over a president. A hearing was set for Tuesday at 1 p.m.

In other Watergate developments Thursday:

—A member of the Senate Watergate committee staff confirmed that the panel has told more than 100 large U.S. corporations to say whether they gave illegal donations of company funds to any presidential candidate last year.

Seven corporations already have admitted to special prosecutor Cox that they made illegal donations to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

—Judge Sirica denied a request by the Senate committee for a speedy hearing on its own legal battle to get the Watergate tapes. He gave the White House until Sept. 24 to reply to the Senate's lawsuit. Sirica ruled last week on the request by the grand jury and Cox, but Thursday the judge said he "is determined not to be rushed into a half-baked job" in the Senate lawsuit.

—Sirica also said there is an important question as to whether the committee has legal standing in the case. He could throw the case out of court if he decides he has no jurisdiction.

—White House spokesmen would neither confirm nor deny a report by The Washington Post that President Nixon ordered the Secret Service to wiretap his brother Donald. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "I am certain after checking that any monitoring of the President's immediate family by the Secret Service would have been related to the protective function performed by the Secret Service."

—Cox asked Sirica to deny Ehrlichman's request to be relieved from further appearances before the two Watergate grand juries in Washington. Ehrlichman's lawyer had said a fourth appearance by the former White House aide would be "unreasonable and oppressive."

Heavy Rains Still Falling From Delia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fading tropical storm Delia roamed into the central Plains and middle Mississippi Valley today while spewing diminishing rain on water-logged regions to the south.

Some additional flooding occurred in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana Thursday night and early today. Abilene, Tex., was hit by 3 inches of rain Thursday. Rains of 2 to 4 inches were common over scattered areas of Texas. Wolfe City, Tex., was swamped with 6 inches.

Lake Charles, La., measured nearly 10 inches of rain since Monday.

Earlier, a tornado unrelated to Delia touched down at Manchester, Conn., and winds gusting at more than 50 miles per hour whipped Providence, R.I. No injuries were reported.

Elsewhere, a new storm system moved into the Northwest, spreading rains from the coast to the northern Rockies.

Inflation Grows Worse Despite Price Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of farm products increased by a record 23.1 per cent at the wholesale level in August and the nation's inflation approached the worst rate of this century, the Labor Department said today.

The department's Wholesale Price Index showed the over-all increase in wholesale prices during August was 5.8 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 6.2 per cent when adjusted for seasonal variations.

The over-all increase in the wholesale index was not a record, but was the highest since an 8.1 per cent rise in wholesale prices in October of 1946.

The increase in price of farm products was led by higher prices for livestock, grains, oil seeds, poultry, eggs, cotton and milk, and was just about double the previous record monthly increase of 11.9 per cent in July of 1946.

The Labor Department also reported a slight increase in the country's unemployment rate in August to 4.8 per cent of the labor force, up from 4.7 per cent in July.

Most of the increases in wholesale prices eventually will be translated into higher retail prices. Since much of the increase is for farm products, higher prices are ahead for many foods. Food prices at retail already have increased about 12 per cent so far this year.

The increases occurred after the government lifted its freeze from food prices and replaced it with new controls of Phase 4 anti-inflation programs.

The increase in wholesale prices in August, which Secretary of Treasury George P. Shultz said would be astounding, could deal the Phase 4 program a major psychological blow before it gets fully under way.

The meat industry has given every indication that big price increases are planned after the price freeze on beef is lifted Sept. 13.

About 200 large companies have proposed price increases of nonfood items to go into effect Sept. 13 unless the government blocks them.

Among pending increases are higher prices for autos, steel, clothing, appliances, and just about every other consumer item.

In addition, the increases in prices of farm products today have been almost exclusively the result of higher raw agricultural costs. Effective Sept. 13, the food industry can begin passing along other cost increases.

State Bribery Probe Continues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A federal grand jury probing an alleged $50,000 bribery attempt involving the Ohio Department of Commerce is expected to hear its last witness Tuesday.

"I'm ready to go now," said one of the federal attorneys involved. But at least three witnesses are expected to be heard before it votes on possible indictments.

The jury recessed following Thursday's session.

The grand jury, first convened last spring, is trying to find out why Anthony LaFatch, an Akron investor, allegedly solicited $50,000 from a Columbus firm to get favorable commerce department action on its planned $10 million stock issuance.

The stock sale for Realty National Corp. of Columbus was approved April 27, the same day the FBI raided LaFatch's Miami, Fla., home and confiscated the money in checks and cash.

The FBI said it had been alerted to the bribery attempt by John Vogel, board chairman of Realty National. Vogel reportedly turned the money over to LaFatch under FBI surveillance April 25 and April 27.

Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, who has spent nearly three hours before the grand jury, said neither he nor any of his employees had any connection with the payoff.

"I have been pretty confident all along that I wasn't going to be indicted," he said. "I also feel strong that none of our employees will be indicted."

Shaul, also from Akron, said he had met LaFatch five or six times and that LaFatch had contributed $300 to his (Shaul's) unsuccessful 1971 campaign for mayor.

Reds Enter Kampong Cham; Situation Reported Grave

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian insurgents seized the southern half of Kampong Cham today and were battling for the rest of the provincial capital 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian command said the situation was grave.

The command said the Khmer Rouge rebels who had besieged the town of 70,000 people for three weeks launched a general attack Thursday, moving in from the south and southwest.

Col. Am Rong, Phnom Penh's chief military spokesman, said there was heavy fighting in the central marketplace and on a broad boulevard leading to the provincial governor's residence, both in the northern part of the town.

One source said two battalions of paratroopers had moved from the airport to the market area and pushed the Khmer Rouge back about two blocks.

ROUNDTOWN

SHERIFF Dwight Radcliff reminds motorists to watch for loading and unloading of school buses. Especially watch those early morning loadings when heavy fogs frequently makes it almost impossible to see. Don't forget, drivers must stop for a school bus when it is loading or unloading students.

DON'T go over to Deer Creek State Park for a swim this weekend.

Although the Ohio Department of Natural Resources is keeping some state park beaches open on weekends until the end of September, Deer Creek is not one of them because there are no lifeguards available. Barricades are up at the swimming beach entrance.

However, the outdoor swimming pool near the dining lodge at Hocking Hills State Park will remain open on weekends through Sept. 30.

THUMB FUN—These children are among 20,000 San Francisco students stranded on the first day of school when a strike by the United Transportation Workers Local 1741 brought school buses to a halt.

Boyle Arrest Said End Of Line In Yablonski Deaths

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 3½-year-old case of Yablonski family murders is drawing to a close.

Richard A. Sprague, special prosecutor in the case, Thursday announced the eighth and ninth arrests in the investigation—W. A. "Tony" Boyle, 71, former United Mine Workers president, and William J. Turnblazer, 52, president of the UMW's District 19 in Kentucky.

Sprague said there would be no more arrests in the case.

"This is where the case began and this is where it ends," Sprague told newsmen after announcing that Boyle had been charged with three counts of murder in the deaths of Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski—who had sought unsuccessfully to unseat Boyle as union president—and Yablonski's wife and daughter in Clarksville, Pa., in 1969.

According to affidavits released by Sprague, the information leading to Boyle's arrest was supplied by Turnblazer, who admitted his role in federal court in Pittsburgh Thursday, pleading guilty to charges of violating the civil rights of a union member by conspiring to "kill Joseph Yablonski."

Boyle was taken into custody Thursday in Washington, D.C.

According to the complaints against Boyle and Turnblazer, the deposed union leader "initiated and instigated a plan to assassinate and murder . . . Yablonski."

Sprague saw the arrest of Boyle as proof the country's legal system "will go to the end of the road no matter where it will lead" involving a crime.

The seven persons charged in the case prior to Thursday have all either pleaded guilty or have been convicted of first-degree murder.

"The case against him (Boyle), frankly, is enormous," a spokesman for Sprague said.

The most recent trial in the Yablonski case ended in the conviction of Albert Pass, like Turnblazer an official of UMW District 19. The spokesman said the investigation into possible charges against Boyle entered its final phase in a two-hour meeting immediately after the Pass verdict.

In the criminal complaint filed Wednesday night with Common Pleas Judge Thomas D. Gladden, Boyle is alleged to have told Turnblazer and Pass on June 23, 1969:

"Yablonski ought to be killed or done away with."

Turnblazer alleged that "Pass then offered to accept the assignment and stated that District 19 would take care of it."

Turnblazer also alleged that Pass later told him Boyle "has made arrangements for them to obtain approximately $20,000 from the treasury of the UMW International to pay for the assassination."

After pleading guilty to the federal charges Thursday in Pittsburgh, "key witness" Turnblazer was removed from the court and placed under protective custody, Sprague said.

"I don't know what it's all about," Boyle told reporters after being arrested in a Washington law office.

Bond was set for Boyle by U.S. Magistrate Arthur L. Burnett at $50,000. Boyle's removal hearing was postponed until Sept. 25. The Washington County, Pa., murder charge cannot be served until Boyle enters that state.

"We've waited a long time," said Joseph "Chip" Yablonski Jr., an attorney and a son of the slain union insurgent, who was present at Boyle's arrest.

A spokesman for Sprague said Turnblazer had been given no promise of immunity.

The Yablonskis were murdered about three weeks after "Jock" had lost to Boyle in a race for UMW president. Boyle has since lost his powerful union post in a court-ordered election to Arnold E. Miller.

The bodies of Yablonski, 59; his wife Dorothy, 57; and their daughter

Charlotte, 25, were found shot to death in the home on Jan. 5, 1970 by his son, Kenneth. They had been dead several days.

Yablonski was found next to his bed, shot five times. The women were found in their beds, each shot twice.

In a series of trials since: Silous Huddleston, a former UMW local president, pleaded guilty to helping to arrange the murders; Annette Gilly, Huddleston's daughter, pleaded guilty to helping arrange the crime; Paul Gilly, Annette's husband, and Aubran Martin, were convicted of taking part in the shootings; Claude Vealey pleaded guilty to participating in the shootings; William Prater, former district official of the union, and Pass were convicted on charges of helping to set up the slayings.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today, reacting somewhat negatively, analysts said, to the not unexpected Labor Department announcement of soaring wholesale prices in August.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.24 at 897.80, but advancing Big Board issues held a 625 to 522 lead over losers in moderate trading.

The Dow Jones blue chip indicator has gained almost 50 points since Aug. 23. The market as a whole has made gains in 8 of the last 10 trading sessions.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up 517 at 101.52, while the Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .23 at 56.03.

The Amex volume leader was Tenneco Warrants, unchanged at 4%. On the Big Board, Fannie Mae, up 1/8 at 20 1/2, was the volume leader, followed by TRW Inc., down 1/4 at 25.

County Board Reports Enrollment Record High

A record enrollment was reported to the county school board at its regular meeting last evening. The enrollment in the county has reached a high of 7,113 students as of Sept. 6.

County Superintendent Edward Martin stated that the official enrollment for the county in October 1972 was 6,952. The number for this year is expected to reach 7,200 by the official October count.

All schools have realized an increase with Teays Valley reporting the highest. Over 100 additional students have joined the Teays Valley District since last year.

Logan Elm District, which reported a loss of students earlier, has experienced an increased enrollment since the Labor Day weekend. The total enrollment now exceeds that of last year.

Enrollments for the individual schools are as follows: Logan Elm District, McDowell, 589, Pickaway, 275, Saltcreek, 272, Washington, 267, Laurelville, 493; Teays Valley District, high school, 868, junior high, 503, Ashville, 523, Scioto, 395, Walnut, 560; Westfall District, high school, 512, junior high 335, Jackson, 365, Monroe, 305 and Darby, 377.

In other action, the board employed Miss Marsha Whetstone as secretary to replace Mrs. Sonja Sutton who had resigned earlier.

All members of the county board plan to attend the fall OSBA Conference in Columbus, Sept. 26. Nelson Stevens who is a member of the board will be a candidate for the OSBA Executive Committee.

The board adopted a policy for severance pay for those employees who have accumulated sick leave at the time of retirement. Retiring employees will receive one month's salary at the time of their retirement provided they have accumulated 20 or more unused sick days.

Action concerning the sick leave policy came as a result of recent legislation which mandates that all school boards adopt a policy for paying accumulated sick leave days to retiring employees.

Approval was made for Martin to attend the Ohio County Superintendent's Meeting in Portsmouth, Sept. 18-20.

A final report was made by Martin that the State Department of Education was allocating an additional $4,000 in support of the media center now serving schools in Pickaway, Fairfield, Fayette and Madison counties. This new money must be used to purchase additional films for the center.

Board members present were: Wendell Evans, Nelson E. Jones, John Little, Nelson Stevens, and Harold E. Lindsey.

Pickaway Children Services Approved For Grad Students

Richard Gregory, field instruction liaison official for the Ohio State University School of Social Work, in a visit to Circleville Thursday, announced the approval of the Pickaway County Children Services Board agency as a Field Instruction Center for graduate students.

The agency served in this capacity in the training of one under-graduate student in the early part of this year and is now qualified for the training of graduate students.

One graduate student will begin instruction in the agency October 18.

Oscar H. Burchfield, Executive Secretary of the Children Services Board, was named Clinical Instructor. Holding a masters degree in social work from the University of Pittsburgh, Burchfield will have auxiliary faculty status in the OSU School of Social Work and will train and evaluate the work of the student to be named.

The graduate student will be instructed in all phases of the children services operation, including administrative structure and relationships with other agencies; client and client systems; program practices and service.

Burchfield said that the student will receive theoretical instruction and practical field experience. The student will attend classes three days a week at OSU and receive field instruction at the agency two days per week.

The Children Services Board now employs a casework supervisor and four caseworkers, serving 270 children monthly.

AT PAPERMAKING WORKSHOP—Thomas Shaw, second from left, joins with other high school students and Dr. R. C. Peterson in exploring some of the instruments used in formulating and testing paper. Shaw was recipient of a scholarship given by Container Corporation of America to attend the Papermaking Workshop held recently at Miami University.

Logan Elm Teen Studies Papermaking Procedure

A scholarship given by Container Corp. of America enabled Logan Elm High School senior Thomas Shaw to attend the Papermaking Workshop held Aug. 12-18 at Miami University.

Shaw was one of 24 students who were selected from a number of applicants to attend the workshop on scholarships supplied by firms in the pulp and paper and related industries.

The one-week summer course in papermaking, which is given annually, is designed to introduce qualified high school juniors to the Paper Technology program at Miami, which is one of only eight U. S. universities offering degrees in the paper science.

In the course, Shaw was given the opportunity of working in the college's classrooms and well-equipped laboratories, which include a complete papermaking machine and numerous scientific instruments used in formulating and testing paper. Those who successfully complete it earn two hours of college credit.

A number of those who attended the course in 1972 have enrolled in this fall's freshman class to study for degrees in Miami's four-and-five-year Paper Sciences programs.

Many students receive financial help through the college course in the form of scholarships which are provided by the Miami University Pulp and Paper Foundation. The Foundation, of which Container Corporation of America is a member, is made up of firms in the pulp and paper and related industries who support and sponsor the activities of the Miami program.

These firms also provide students with summer jobs in industry and help them with job placements upon graduation.

High school students entering the junior class this fall who would like to be considered for a scholarship to next summer's Papermaking Workshop should write: Prof. C. E. Brandon, Paper Technology Department, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio 45056.

Pastor Hemming and family enjoyed a short vacation Aug. 21-27. Their first stop was old Fort Harrod State Park, Harrodsburg, Ky. where they attended the out door drama "The Legend of Daniel Boone."

The next day they arrived at the English Mountain Resort Community outside of Sevierville, Tenn., where they stayed while touring the area.

One afternoon was spent at Lake Runaluska, N. C. with Mrs. Olga Sells, widow of the Rev. Ernest L. Sells.

In Cherokee N. C., they toured the Ocanaltee Indian Village and in Gatlinburg, Tenn., they enjoyed the various shops and activities.

On the return trip home, they stopped at Fort Boonesboro State Park, Boonesboro, Ky., where they saw the original site of Fort Boonesboro. The whole trip was a wonderful family adventure and they appreciated this time off for rest and relaxation.

Most Ohio Courts Running Current

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is winning its battle against court delays and its criminal dockets will be "as nearly current" as it is possible to get them by Jan. 1, Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill said today.

In a prepared statement, the chief justice said the state's common pleas courts have made "a truly remarkable record in the last 20 months in reducing the backlog of court cases and expediting trials."

"The number of criminal cases more than six months old has been reduced from 1,897 on Jan. 31, 1972, to only 221 on Sept. 1, 1973, although criminal cases are being filed this year in record numbers and there have been no new judgeships created," O'Neill said.

State Solon Turns Phrasemaker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, who often gets upset with banks and big business, turned phrasemaker the other day before the House Judiciary Committee.

"When the rich gather to concern themselves about the poor, they call it charity," Wilkowski said. "When the poor gather to concern themselves about the rich they call it revolution."

The Toledo legislator was arguing for a bill that would allow state lottery tickets to be sold in bars.

"I about died," said Joseph J. Sommer, director of the newly created Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Sommer was describing his first Westfall-Jackson PTB

"I told the procurement office to collect a few things and throw them in there, but I didn't expect that," he said.

Drought Covers China

ROME (AP) — Drought in the north and floods in the south reduced China's grain production 4 per cent last year, from a record 250 million tons in 1971 to 240 million, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization reported today. But food supplies for the more than 700 million Chinese remained stable, the agency said. It attributed this to stockpiling for emergencies, self sufficiency in such traditionally northern deficit areas as Honan, Shantung, Hopei and Shansi, and the import of five million tons of wheat from Canada, France, Australia and the United States.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has been flexing his muscles for the 1974 election battle, even if he still isn't certain who he will be fighting.

More than a year ago Gov. John G. Gilligan indicated the veteran Republican will be a prime target for the Democrats.

Brown now is feuding with U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Flushing, over the congressman's aide, Frank A. Vanelle. Vanelle is a member of the Belmont County Board of Elections and Brown thinks this is a conflict of interest.

Hays has been doing his feuding, too. He recently threatened to run against Brown next year.

"If that little . . . runs against me he'll wish he had stayed in Washington," exploded Brown. "I'll clobber him."

Ohio's Trade Mission to Japan says "no" to wives.

"It is primarily for men," said the brochure describing the Sept. 20-Oct. 7 mission to prospective missionaries. "The executive committee is of the opinion that the Trade Mission's effectiveness would be diluted if wives are included in the party."

Then, the brochure, building defense against any charge of chauvinism, added: "However, women executives or those directly concerned with business operations will be welcome members of the group."

The Department of Economic and Community Development and the Ohio Commodores sponsor the mission.

Say Nixon Tapped

Brother's Phone

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post reports that President Nixon ordered the Secret Service to wiretap the telephone of his brother, F. Donald Nixon.

Quoting "four highly reliable sources" in Thursday editions, the Post said the President ordered the wiretapping during his first term because he feared that his brother's financial activities might embarrass the Nixon administration.

A Secret Service spokesman declined to comment on the story.

A Page Of Opinion

Deducting A Pint

American taxpayers have not been bled dry, not yet anyway. A bill in Congress would take their blood, too—voluntarily, of course.

Blood donors would be permitted to deduct up to $25 a pint, for as many as five pints a year, from their federal income taxes. The blood would have to be donated to a non-profit blood collecting agency to qualify for tax relief.

This is an intriguing concept. Blood is always in demand, sometimes desperately so, by hospitals and other agencies. Paying part of the annual tax bill in blood has appealing significance. But what of the many taxpayers who because of age, present health or past diseases, cannot donate blood? Perhaps surrogate blood donations could be made in their behalf by other donors. The question is probably moot.

Congress is knocking loopholes this year, not proposing new ones.

It hopes to take more tax revenue without raising rates. This is a prospect which has some taxpayers sweating blood.

Western Europe

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

At times, to read the headlines, one would naturally think that American, as the source of engineering enterprise, is about to yield its old position to the Japanese and the West Germans. We are obviously at a period of pause. A good deal of it is political: other nations, our NATO allies in particular, don't know what to expect of us. The West Europeans eye Senator Mike Mansfield, with his proposal to take U.S. troops out of West Germany, with great misgivings. If we are not to help defend West Europe on the ground, Britain and West Germany will have to devise their own means of protection.

Suspecting that Senator Mansfield means business, and that the growing isolationist spirit in America will eventually sustain him, a British, German, and Italian consortium is looking to the development of a multi-role combat aircraft that will solve several entirely different national defense problems.

The British want a plane that can repel attacks before the North Sea or the English Channel can be crossed. The West Germans, facing the possible incursion of Soviet tanks and ground troops from Poland and Czechoslovakia, need a contour-hugging plane to support ground operations. The Italians presumably require something to deal with attacks from the sea or through the Alpine passes. Such a variety of requirements means multi-role with a vengeance. If a good all-purpose plane can be made in Europe, the export market for American warplanes will shrivel.

Does this mean still another disastrous blow to our balance of payments? Not necessarily. To develop an all-purpose fighter-bomber the Europeans are finding they must rely on U.S. radar and telemetry communications in general. It is not for nothing that we have placed men on the moon who carried instruments that gave them instant communication with Houston, Texas. The English, the Italians, and the West Germans can build the fuselage of the new plane, and British Rolls-Royce is there to provide the engines. But Texas Instruments has been called upon to supply radar controls, Xerox Data Systems manufactures the computers necessary for supporting ground equipment, and Base Ten Systems, with its telemetry know-how, has started manufacturing its data transmission equipment in Britain to test new aircraft designs.

These are American companies that have it over their European counterparts in engineering capacity, even though the Europeans may excel Americans in abstract science. Together, they add something to the U.S. balance of payments account. If we no longer export automobiles and Hollywood films, we can still make money on wheat, computers and airborne telemetry equipment. The Base Ten company is delivering about $1,700,000 this year in telemetry engineering for the European aircraft test program. This amount represents the remainder of a $2,700,000 contract from the European consortium that was signed in July of 1971 at a time when Senator Mansfield was putting his toe in the water to test U.S. sentiment for bringing the troops back home without bothering to get the Soviets to agree to a mutual reduction of forces in Middle Europe.

Telemetry, which may be defined as the process of transmitting data, in the form of an electrical signal, from a remote station, is a marvel that would have had Americans agog in the days before Ralph Nader and the ecologists prejudiced a whole generation against anything of a technological nature. Because of our superior telemetry we can operate in space, whether the moving vehicle happens to be an aircraft, a missile, a satellite or a manned space platform. The data transmitted can be temperature, position, speed, strain, or it can be guidance or control information.

The West Germans, in testing such things as the delivery of a Kormorant missile from a plane, have cut hours and even weeks and months out of the process of developing the West European all-purpose aircraft that will be suited to their particular defense needs. Naturally, the American aerospace industry would prefer to continue selling its military planes and missiles to the Europeans. But if worst comes to worst, and Senator Mansfield has his way about disengaging U.S. forces from the West European defense perimeter, the NATO nations are going to require their own aerospace backstop. We can count ourselves fortunate that the West Europeans are still going to need our sophisticated communications equipment in order to create an effective air defense of their own.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that an avant-garde artist gets tired of hearing:

"I like your latest canvas, Lance. What is it a picture of?"

"You can buy it if you want to, Maude. But where will you hang it—in the basement or the attic?"

"Don't tell me a man has to go to art school to learn to turn out junk like this?"

"Did you paint this one with a brush or a pocket comb, Lance?"

"That one looks like a cat had run across it before it dried out."

"Don't tell me what it is, Lance. It's more fun to guess."

"I love this canvas, 'Nocturne in a Red Brickyard.' But I can't help wondering why he painted all the bricks a bright blue."

"If my daughter turned in a drawing like that in kindergarten, the teacher would make her stand in the corner with a dunce cap on her head."

"Well, I hope he at least has the common sense to marry money. He'll never earn any."

"As Lance's parents, naturally we're proud of him. His real ambition was to be a sculptor, but we only own a small grocery store, and we couldn't afford to buy him the marble he needed."

"In my opinion he'd have done better with all that paint if he had just put it on a barn."

"For a moment I kind of liked the one titled 'Nude Sliding up a Banister'—then I found that what I thought was the banister was actually the nude."

"Don't you think this one would have a deeper meaning if you just hung it sideways, Lance?"

"I told you the children were too young to bring to the gallery, dear. We'll have to take them home now. They say the paintings scare them."

"They used to have a fingerprinting chimpanzee at the Baltimore Zoo. Do you suppose Lance took any lessons from him?"

"No, I don't think Lance needs a rich patron. What I think he needs is a good case of amnesia—so he'll forget all about being an artist."

"What he really wants to do is to paint a mural for a government building, but no branch of the government is willing to be the guinea pig."

"I heard that the reason his gallery picked this time to put on a one-man exhibit of Lance's work is because all the art critics are out of town on their summer vacations."

"Your art is a lot clearer to me, Lance, now that I've started going to a psychiatrist, too."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I was recently married. My husband and I feel that we want to put off having a family for a few years.

After examination by our family doctor, I was given contraceptive pills. The very same day, I read an article in a woman's magazine which frightened me to the point that I did not follow my doctor's instructions.

Do you think that these pills are safe?

Mrs. G.E., Tex.

forth some unusual reaction in a highly sensitive person.

For this reason doctors insist that their patients report the slightest unusual and unexpected reaction to the pill and to any other drug they may prescribe.

You can be sure that your doctor has carefully balanced the advantages versus the disadvantages of the pill in your particular case.

How much wiser it would have been to openly discuss with him your fears and your confusion.

Dear Mrs. E.:

You have placed your doctor's well-trained judgment in competition with the "scientific" knowledge of a writer.

And the writer, apparently, made this important decision for you.

This is not a well-thought-out decision.

Unfortunately, some eager science writers, with little or no medical background, tend to emphasize fear rather than hope in their writings.

Is there a difference between an infectious disease and a contagious disease?

Miss J.I., Maine

Before contraceptive pills were given total clearance by federal health agencies, the most complex and detailed controlled studies were done to insure greatest safety.

By now, millions of women have safely used "the pill" for years, without having the slightest complication.

Unfortunately, there is a small percentage of women who have developed problems as an aftermath to the use of the pill. It must be remembered that all drugs, no matter how simple and innocuous, may call

Dear Miss I.:

There is a difference, and sometimes it is difficult to make it clear.

An infectious disease is one produced by bacteria, by fungi, by viruses, or by some other kind of germ.

"Contagious" is an adjective that describes any disease acquired by direct contact with an infected person.

Some diseases are, therefore, both infectious and contagious.

All contagious diseases are infectious, but not all infectious diseases are contagious.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the economy drift off into a minirecession, a growth recession, stagflation or even a full blown depression? This, it is unnerving to contemplate, is one of the big economic debates today.

Some economists, it should be noted, believe there won't be a recession of any kind. And Argus Research, which provides much of Wall Street's economic analysis, has declared that the economy will grow rapidly for the next five years.

However, probably one-half of the better known economists, the ones who cultivate a popular following for personal, professional, business or political reasons, are worried about the immediate future of the economy.

They agree that a slowdown is due in 1974 — even Argus concedes that — but few of them can agree on the precise degree of slowing. As one popular forecaster wrote to his clients this week:

and when it is imagined.

If the Gross National Product, or total output of goods and services, slows to almost imperceptible growth rate it doesn't mean recession.

Even if output shrinks rather than grows it may not mean recession. According to the definition commonly used, the GNP must decline for two successive quarters before a downturn is correctly labeled a recession.

Even in the midst of a recession many economists cannot prove it. It is only when the figures are compiled weeks or even months later that the picture becomes clear, and by then the economy might be off on a new course.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I want to take this time to thank everyone, especially the Easter Seal Society and Mrs. Patty Kirkwood, for a vacation for the handicapped.

It was a fun time renewing old friendships and making new ones. The administration and helpers were the best yet. Camp Pittenger was a fun place to spend the week. Vespers were held each day. Sleeping in the woods, playing records and shuffleboard were really fun for me.

Again, a hearty thanks to the administration and volunteers who made this possible.

Doc Finds Burglar

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The doctor conducted a very brief foot examination. He didn't even take the shoe off. Then he hauled his young patient down to a police station and had him arrested.

It happened that the shoe of the patient examined by Dr. Irwin Eisenberg matched an imprint allegedly left by whomever had just burglarized the doctor's office. Eisenberg discovered the break-in, and the theft of a $50 adding machine, late Tuesday. On the floor was a blank paper with a clear impression of the intruder's shoes.

A half-hour later, Edward DeRita, 18, a regular patient, came in for treatment. The doctor had him jump up on an examining table and after finding that the imprint apparently matched the shoe, hustled the youth to the police station.

DeRita was charged with burglary and theft.

MRS. JAMES FREDRICK CHAPIN

Derby United Methodist Church Site For Writsel-Chapin Vows

Derby United Methodist Church was the setting for the Aug. 11th wedding of Laura May Writsel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Writsel of Orient, and Mr. James Fredrick Chapin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chapin of Harrisburg.

The Rev. Kenneth Chapin officiated the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Altar candelabra and aisle candles were lighted by Ted DeVoss prior to the ceremony. The wedding candle was accented by a white arrangement of daisies and dahlias. Baskets of daisies and ferns decorated the altar.

A program of music preceding the ceremony was presented by Vicki Stoer, soloist and Mrs. Jean Bragg, organist. Vocal selections were "And I Love You So," "Come To Me, Bend To Me," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" sung during the ceremony. "A Sabbath Prayer" was done as a duet with Mrs. Edward Conrad.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned by her mother. The empire bodice, top sleeves, high neckband and cuffs all featured satin covered with flocked lace on organza and edged with dainty crocheted lace. Plain organza fashioned long full sleeves from the short top sleeve to the cuff and also appeared between the round low neckline of the bodice and the high neckband. The floor length A-line skirt was plain organza over satin.

The bride's elbow length illusion veil was caught to her cap of satin covered with flocked lace on organza and edged with crocheted lace matching her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of assorted shades of flowers, highlighted with yellow sweetheart roses backed by polished ivy leaves.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Edward Conrad of New Holland, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of mint green and white dotted swiss, fashioned in princess style with over-the-shoulder ruffles and a belt set in front below the ruffle and tied in back with long streamers. A white picture hat with a mint green dotted swiss bow completed her ensemble.

Bridesmatron was Mrs. Jay Lax, Dalton, cousin of the bride. Her cloud blue dotted swiss gown was fashioned identical to the honor attendant's and a cloud blue dotted swiss bow accented her white picture hat.

The flower girl was Judi Smith, Hilliard, cousin of the bride. She wore a lavender dotted swiss gown patterned like the other attendants, and her white picture hat was trimmed with a lavender dotted swiss bow.

83rd Year Of Activities Begins For Monday Club

Monday Club of Circleville will begin its 83rd year 8 p.m. Sept. 10th at the meeting room of the Pickaway County Historical Society. "Shifting Sands" will be the keynote for the 16 meetings which will take place during the 1973-1974 program year. The lead-off speaker, Miss Martha Reid, will present a paper on "Circular Explosion" and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson will serve as reporter. The programs will center around early and modern Circleville with its achievements and present day problems.

Today the organization is indebted to the founders who, with intelligence, ingenuity and foresight, laid the foundations for the club which has never failed to present yearly programs since its inception. A small group of women who belonged to a literary club decided to expand their horizons beyond the concentration of a single field, they chose the world as their territory and Monday evenings for their meetings.

The first meeting took place at the Charles Groce home, one of Circleville's landmarks located next to the Court House. Mrs. Groce, long interested in education for women, became the organizational president and Miss Alice Pedrick, a well-remembered teacher in the local schools, became the first president in 1890.

Since college education for women was very limited, the ladies attacked with compensatory dedication and thoroughness a year's study of Greece, its history, government, art, health, literature, recreation, music and religion. All members were required to study exhaustively and be ready to answer quiz questions at the end of each paper. The embarrassment of those who failed suggested drop-outs so these sessions were discontinued.

Great encouragement came from the Public Library which provided excellent research materials. Today, as in the past, local librarians never cease to be of great help.

While the women were struggling with their new venture, male members of the community let their feelings be known. "The woman's place was in the home." Households would be neglected, meals affected to the point of starvation and men's shirts and pants would never have the buttons replaced. The children would be without the discipline of the home. However, the women reacted with a sense of new freedom. Neither they nor their husbands knew that the vote would be theirs in the 20's.

The club members turned their backs on such chatter and delved more deeply into their developing world. At one point they became interested in their personal well-being. They indulged in calisthenics in the Groce library much to the amusement of the male Court House employees who jostled each other for a place at the windows. This may well have been the first voluntary exercise opportunity for women.

The musical tastes of the Monday Club did not include such ragtime favorites as "A Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight." Reactions to this period of the Gay 90's had sectional adaptations. The east in newspapers and photography exaggerated all phases of this era. Pictures of the Charles Dana Gibson girls showed high pompadours, shirtwaists, vests and flowing skirts. Locally women made adaptations and showed the influence of the era in their bicycle skirts which were well weighted down with buckshot to take care of any wayward breeze.

Vacations on Lake Erie and the seashore provided opportunities for bathing outfits, gay caps, bathing dresses, (at times corsets) long black stockings and bathing sandals. Getting wet had limited popularity.

These were horse and buggy days, the surry with velvet cushions and fringe were popular for church and social gatherings. In winter cutters raced out Main St. It was a period of no taxes, no wars, no gangs, no narcotics. Butter was 20 cents a pound and eggs 12 cents a dozen. Cream was so thick it had to be cut from the container. The time was favorable for the beginning of the Monday Club.

The membership rolled along through the early 1900's with the feeling of more freedom. They could buy hand-operated washing machines and gaily decorated carpet sweepers for $2. Hired girls would live in for $2. or $3. a week with board and room included. However, problems began to arise, children were working in factories and inequalities among the black people became evident.

The Wright Brothers put the first power engine into a fragile plane, a harbinger of benefits as well as difficulties. The Model T Ford made its appearance on the highways, a mechanical preface to today's traffic complications.

The club continued vigorously with tailor-made programs in keeping with the times. It survived the Jazz Age with its saxophones, coonskin coats and speakeasies of the 20's. The 30's brought a depression, poor agricultural yield and extremes in weather adding to the discomforts of the poor. Each decade presented rapid changes. Wars, depressions, unemployment, poverty, strikes, epidemics and world catastrophes offered challenges in work and understanding. While club members did not work as a unit, its members participated in the community according to the varied needs. It maintained its original objective to present programs enlarging educational horizons.

The club recognized the need for a District Nurse for Circleville. With a monetary gift and active promotion, the first District Nurse, Charlotte Phelps, became a reality. Today the main project is a scholarship fund which makes possible the higher education of selected girls, graduates of Pickaway County High Schools.

Monday Club prides itself on the fact that it was an organized club before the establishment of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. Its members have served on important State committees and furnished one president for the Federation. The Club has moved with the times as evidenced by its age and growth. Its goals are contained in the constitution—"To widen the outlook of women, to keep them in touch with problems of the present, to make them more familiar with the great heritage of the past and realize responsibilities of citizenship."

Leukemia Society Begins Fund Raising Campaign

The Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society is conducting its annual fund raising drive this month. The kick-off week is Sept. 4-11, but the drive will be continued throughout the month until all areas are covered.

Our Pickaway County chairman is Robert Huffer, a local attorney who is also a member of the board of trustees for the Central Ohio Chapter. Huffer was elected to this post to serve a two year term starting July 1 of this year.

Last year, the SOS club from Circleville High School conducted the tag day in downtown Circleville for the Society. The tag day activities produced $336.09 which was used to support the Society's program of research, patient aid and public and professional education.

Susan Marshall announced today on the behalf of the SOS Club that they were planning to do the service of the tag day again this year. Susan is president of the high school service club.

Residential campaigns are currently in progress. The campaigners are using the facilities of the First National Bank for depositing and receiving kits. The hospitality of the bank has saved the Society considerable money on postage as the central office is in Columbus.

The Leukemia Society is a voluntary agency with 45 chapters throughout the country. The main emphasis is on research. Presently, the Society is giving support to 90 researchers.

Any questions concerning the campaign or the activities of the Society may be directed to Robert Huffer, 210 S. Court St. or to Margery L. Perkins, Executive Director, who can be reached by dialing 474-1480.

Armstrong To Attend Conference

Senator Harry L. Armstrong (R-Logan) will be attending the Midwest Conference of the Council of State Governments Sunday through Wednesday. At the conference, Senator Armstrong will serve as chairman of the Agriculture and Environment Committee.

The thirteen states participating in the conference produce 70 per cent of the food produced in the United States. Senator Armstrong's committee will concern itself with the agricultural problems common to these states.

The major topics Senator Armstrong plans to study are water pollution control and how this affects farmers; the gasoline shortage's effect on farmers, such as a lack of fuel for the drying of grain; and the boxcar shortage. Senator Armstrong said, "Many different problems contribute to the high cost of producing food today and will lead to shortages of some foods if solutions are not found. We hope to suggest methods of controlling these problems and where necessary cooperate with each others' efforts."

Lookout House Fire Said Arson

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Malicious burning is suspected in the $2.5 million dollar fire which destroyed the Lookout House here Aug. 16, according to the state arson investigator of Northern Kentucky.

Phil Hampton said traces of a flammable liquid were found in the bottom level of the Lookout House, a Northern Kentucky landmark for three decades.

At the time of the fire, the entertainment palace was undergoing renovation by its new owners, the Ohio Real Estate Investment Corp.

Hampton said, "We're pretty well convinced in our minds that the liquid shouldn't have been there. And the type of burning indicates that it shouldn't have happened."

He would not name the substance, although he did say laboratory tests were made on the substance.

There are no suspects in connection with the fire, he said, but Hampton is continuing his investigation. His office is part of the Kentucky State Police.

The new owners of the Lookout House were going to open it in September as a restaurant that would cater to parties. James Downey, vice president of the Ohio Real Estate Investment Corp., said after the fire the structure was insured for $1.7 million and its contents for $500,000.

Newsprint Shortage To Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — The severe newsprint shortage pinching a number of newspapers across the United States will ease when strikes at key Canadian mills are settled. But supplies will be tight for at least the next few years.

This is the outlook described by leaders in the newsprint industry and executives familiar with the newspaper side of the picture.

They generally agree that demand for newsprint will be growing faster than supplies, and predict that prices could rise by nearly a third over the next few years to as much as $225 a ton.

While no serious crisis is anticipated, "for the next couple of years newspapers will have to tighten their belts and conserve newsprint," says Joseph Prendergast Jr., manager of traffic and newsprint for the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Small dailies and weeklies will feel the pinch most severely, observers say, since they tend to buy from wholesalers who lack secure sources of supply. Many large newspapers, on the other hand, have long-term contracts directly with newsprint mills or have part ownership in mills.

The strikes at several Canadian newsprint mills, which account for about 15 per cent of U.S. newsprint consumption, have served to underscore the problem.

Newsprint consumption is growing at a rate of 5 per cent a year, while plant expansion is expected to grow at a rate of less than 3 per cent annually over the next three years, according to the American Paper Institute, which represents the country's paper manufacturers.

With mills already running at full capacity virtually around the world, supply problems are inevitable.

The situation is a new one for the newsprint industry, which is just recovering from a 15-year period of overcapacity. Now that the industry has finally caught up with itself, however, many manufacturers are hesitant about committing new money for additional equipment.

"It's a cyclical market, and people are scared of it," says Anthony Balloch, executive vice president of Bowater Inc., a large producer.

"Newsprint hasn't had a very good reputation as an investment over the past few years," he said. "It's been a bit of a black dog in the investment community."

"To bring on new capacity, the price of newsprint has to be high enough to attract capital," said Bruce Howe, group vice president of Canadian-based MacMillan Bloedel, North America's largest newsprint producer. "Right now investors can get a better rate of return by putting their money in the bank."

Furthermore, he points out, "there are not a lot of places in North America ideally suited from the cost, environment and wood supply point of view."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Treating Dad Like Three-Year-Old

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I became an adult my mother has been pushing poor Dad around. She interrupts him to correct his grammar, tells him what to say, what to wear, and what to do. And when he talks on the telephone she literally stands beside him and prompts him as if he were three years old.

Dad doesn't like to be treated this way, but after a lifetime of fighting with competitors in business, all he wants now is peace at home. Occasionally he tries to assert himself, but it's such a hassle, he gives up and Mom wins again.

I've tried getting Mom interested in volunteer work, especially working with small children to satisfy her urge to boss somebody around, but she finds destroying Dad's manhood inch by inch more to her liking.

Don't tell me it's none of my business. If I hadn't grown up poor Dad wouldn't be in all this trouble. He's taking the heat meant for me. I wish I could help him.

SORRY FOR DAD

DEAR SORRY: Don't waste too much sympathy on "poor Dad." No man can be pushed around unless he surrenders his manhood. If you could convert some of your wishbone to "poor Dad's" backbone, you'd both have it made.

DEAR ABBY: I went to a charity luncheon as a guest of a friend of mine. One of the door prizes was a trip to Hawaii. I won it.

Afterwards, one of the women came up to me and congratulated me and she said, "I hope the organization can expect a nice donation from you."

To tell you the truth, I hadn't even considered such a thing. I don't want to appear cheap. Should I send in the price of a luncheon ticket for a donation?

LOVELY HULA HANDS

DEAR HANDS: It would be a nice gesture. (P.S. Why not be a sport and make it a little more than just the price of the luncheon?)

DEAR ABBY: Recently I was in a drug store when a woman, who appeared to be about 60, came in grumbling about her "old age."

The druggist, a good friend of mine, pointed to me, and said: "This old gent is 87, and he seems to be doing all right."

The woman asked me how I did it, and I replied: "I don't smoke or drink, I attend church regularly and never fool around with more than one woman at a time."

She looked me in the eye, and asked: "Mister, what do you do for fun?"

I told her that I wandered through graveyards and copied unusual inscriptions from the tombstones. It's true, but I'm sure she didn't believe me.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.A.H., M.D. IN MINNEAPOLIS: The next time I come in for my checkup, I'm going to weigh YOU, doctor! For your health's sake, watch that girth-control. So many people love and need you.

Wisconsin Beauty Raps Women's Lib

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — "I may have been out there wearing only a swimsuit and a smile, but I have seen women's lib girls angrily marching and bouncing down Milwaukee Avenue, and I ask you, 'who is happier, them or me?'" says Judy Hieke.

"It's not them!" says Miss Wisconsin, who took opening night, preliminary honors in the Miss America Pageant, along with Miss Illinois, Colleen Ann Metternich.

"I'm proud of my figure and I say so myself," says Miss Hieke, 5-foot-9, about 120 pounds and 37-25-36.

Miss Hieke, a University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee sophomore majoring in music, says she agrees with women's liberation in such areas as equal pay for equal work, but doesn't think much of the movement.

"I don't need movements," the Menomonee Falls beauty said of the marches she saw in Milwaukee. "I liberated myself and can do anything I want."

Miss Metternich, 23, of Carthage, Ill., won the talent award and Miss Hieke won swimsuit in preliminary competition.

Miss Hieke's victory paralleled that of last year's Miss Wisconsin, Terry Anne Meeuwse, who went on to be crowned Miss America. The current Miss Wisconsin has to wait until Friday to see if she can repeat Miss Meeuwse's win in the talent division.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan, recalling a campaign plea "that may have sounded like political suicide," said Thursday that acceptance of an increased tax load proves "it's a matter of telling the people the truth."

"Politicians, particularly Republicans, think people hate taxes worse than anything, Gilligan told 500 delegates to the Ohio State Council of Carpenters convention.

"People elect us to make choices and what the people want is honesty and truthfulness," said Gilligan.

The Democratic governor took verbal pokes at the previous state administration headed by former Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"Do you remember—their slogan—'The Wonderful World of Ohio?'"

"That was something. No new taxes—but property taxes doubled over a 10-year period," charged Gilligan.

Gilligan said Ohio voters deserve credit for approving retention of the state's first graduated income tax. He said the vote reflected opposition to "the move by those neanderthals on the Republican side of the aisle" in the statehouse.

Gilligan said his administration has taken progressive steps that has resulted in doubling payment for workers injured under Workmen's Compensation; nearly doubled payments for Unemployment Compensation and is responsible for enacting the state's first minimum wage law covering about 70,000 workers.

"For the first time in Ohio history, we have placed an attendant in every ward of every state hospital, 24 hours a day, seven days a week," Gilligan said.

"When I took office you wouldn't believe the conditions those hospitals—those pest holes—were in. It would make you vomit," he said. Gilligan criticized President Nixon for not making better use of the $10 million spent on improvements at San Clemente and Florida.

Gilligan said the money could have been better spent on providing housing for 2,000 elderly or continuing the school milk program.

"What I'm saying is that you've got to tell the people the truth and they can make the judgements," he said.

On Books And Activities At The Library

September. Labor Day. Back to school. From the beginning kindergarten to the returning college students, there is a bustle of activity as each finds his present niche in the education process. Do you think of this process as confined to school, classes, or lectures? Or do you think of it as a lifelong, continuing process? Muscles go flabby without exercise. Thinking muscles also tend to sag unless they are strained, flexed, and stimulated. Books can provide exercise and stimulation your thinking apparatus needs to keep in top shape.

Some new fiction titles which arrived this week will provide the easy, shaping up exercises for more strenuous challenges later.

"Stand Like Men" by James Sherburne, author of "Hacey Miller" and "Way to Fort Pillow" has for its setting the 1931 Kentucky Coal War. It is a rugged, moving novel about the violence and suffering of miners — a young mountaineer and his sister, a communist, a poet-midwife, and an old man.

Two of the new books should appeal to those who like war stories. "Dawn Attack" by Brian Callison gives a vivid impression of the horrors of war in a minute-by-minute account of an imaginary raid upon a Norwegian port held by the Nazis in WWII. Spencer Dunmore in "The Last Hill" tells of the conflict between Captain Cornish and his CO as they fight out their personal battle during an ill-fated rearguard action. The story, told in flashbacks, concerns the retreat of a British battalion from Singapore during WW II.

Gothic fans have several choices. "Dark Sun, Pale Shadows" by Naidra Grey is a first person narrative set in today's Portugal. Nicola, through a series of mishaps finds herself in the remote mansion of Francesca Duarte Lopez. She rises triumphant over injustice, jealous ambition, and the narcotic traffic. In "Darsham's Tower" by Harriet Esmond, beautiful 19 year old Kate Quantrell comes to the ancient tower home of the Darsham family. Here she supervises the young daughter of the lord of the tower. The tower, the sea, and a long-buried family secret provide drama and suspense.

"Deborah" by Colette Davenant is a historical novel of a young and beautiful woman sent on a secret mission by Queen Elizabeth I.

For a dash of nostalgia, "No More Re-unions" by John Bowers is a novel set in the forties in a small town in Tennessee. This is a first person narrative which describes the joys and agonies of growing up in an earlier day.

In "Mungo's Dream" by J. I. M. Stewart, two young Scotsmen from different backgrounds find themselves roommates in their first year at Oxford. Mungo is a poor boy brought up by a schoolteacher aunt. Ian Cardower is heir to an aristocratic Scottish family. They become fast friends, but some underlying mystery seems to be undermining their friendship.

For Janice Holt Giles' fans "Plum Thicket" is a re-issue of an earlier title — a tale of the last years of the American Frontier. Janice Holt Giles' biography, "The Kinta Years" would provide excellent enrichment reading for this novel. Miss Giles used the setting of her grandparents' home described in the biography, as the setting for "Plum Thicket."

"Buried Alive" by Myra Friedman is a biography of Janis Joplin, the rock singer who died at the height of her popularity. Written by her press agent and friend, it is a commentary on the times in which she lived.

"Give Your Heart to the Hawks" by Winifred Blevins contains authentic stories of the "mountain men." These men include, Jim Bridger, who explored the frontier wilderness before any other white man.

If you've kept your mind active during the summer, you might be ready to tackle "Cybernetics for the Modern Mind" by Walter R. Fuchs. Or "Astronomy in Color" the solar system, the stars and galaxies, pulsars and quasars and "Black Holes" in space. "Guideposts to the Stars" by Leslie C. Peltier explains a new way to learn about the stars. Robert Silverberg's "Clocks for the Ages" tells of the technological advances which have enabled scientists to date the past.

Other new non-fiction titles include: "Telescopes: How to Make Them and Use Them," "Romantic England: Writing and Painting 1717-1851" by Peter Quennell; "All Color Book of Oriental Carpets and Rugs" by Stanley Reed; "Gardening in the Shade" by Margery Fish; "House and Garden Guide" and "House Beautiful Gardening and Outdoor Living."

The Yoga instructor on TV the other night admonished the listeners not to just do the same favorite exercise over and over. Try some you don't like. We think this applies to books too. Don't get a cramp in just one little gray cell by reading your favorite author exclusively. Use all the little "gray cells." To help you flex them, have we got a book for you!

Gasoline, Religion Mix At Church

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — "If gas will get you to heaven, then I'm going to get there," said Dr. James L. Robertson, minister of Arlington Temple.

Robertson's church may be unique, for while he administers to spiritual needs upstairs, his flock's cars are being gassed up down below at an Exxon station that's part of the church building.

The temple's arrangement with Exxon is profitable to both. The church gets 2 cents for each gallon sold. The revenue makes up about a third of the church's annual budget, which was $105,000 this year.

The church owns the property and the gas station facilities are leased by Exxon. The bright "Exxon" signs flank the smaller, simple one saying "Arlington Temple."

Teacher Strikes Continue As Ferguson Act Invoked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Youngstown School Supt. Robert Pegues Jr. says he will wait for the outcome of a court injunction hearing before deciding whether to take action against striking public school teachers under Ohio's Ferguson Act.

A hearing is scheduled today in Mahoning County Common Pleas Court on the school board's petition for a permanent injunction banning the strike by teachers and other school employees.

Earlier this week, the school board secured a temporary injunction against the strike, which has halted classes for 24,000 pupils, but the teachers have ignored that order. Pegues says "fugitive" union leaders have dodged deputy sheriffs trying to serve them with notice of the injunction.

The board of education voted unanimously Friday to authorize Pegues to implement the Ferguson Act, which bans strikes by public employees.

School officials in the Youngstown suburb of Campbell invoked the Ferguson Act Wednesday and fired 109 striking teachers and 60 service employees. Campbell School Supt. Robert across the Potomac River from Washington, D.C., just off Key Bridge. "The bishop appointed me to organize and build a church here, because in the midst of a resident population of 25,000 and a working population of another 30,000, there was no church," said the 61-year-old Dr. Robertson.

The land was given to the church in 1971. Dr. Robertson asked Exxon whether it would be interested in a working agreement. Exxon was, and that's how it began.

Arlington Temple was perhaps the only church in the country that could have been directly hurt by the gas shortage. But Dr. Robertson said business never fell off — either downstairs at the pumps or upstairs in the pews.

"The good Lord looked out for us. We asked for some heavenly gas as well as heavenly grace," he joked.

"The station is going full blast. I go down there and pray for them a lot.

"They used to say 'the sweetest music this side of heaven' came from Guy Lombardo's band.' But now it comes from that little bell that rings every time a car drives into the gas station."

The temple has only about 300 members. But Dr. Robertson said more than half of those attending services are nonmembers.

"It's a United Methodist Church, but they put me here to create sort of an ecumenical movement, and that's what I'm trying to do," he added.

So in this Methodist church, Protestant services are conducted on Sundays and Thursdays, and a Catholic priest drops by every Friday to say Mass.

Hughes Set To Bow Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said Thursday he will retire from the Senate next year to become a religious layworker.

In a statement issued here, which he read at a news conference in Des Moines, the former three-term governor said "I will take up work as a religious layworker in connection with two foundations—the Fellowship Foundation of Washington, D.C. and the International Christian Leadership. This new work represents to me a new kind of challenge and spiritual opportunity in today's troubled world."

Hughes, 51, who was instrumental this summer in forcing the disclosure by the Pentagon of secret Cambodian bombing, said he reached the decision "after a long period of personal soul-searching and extended discussion with the members of my family."

County Receives Gasoline Tax Fund

Pickaway County will receive a total of $10,496 in the distribution of $8,883,033 in gasoline excise tax for the month of August to Ohio's cities, villages and townships, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The 964 cities and villages in the state shared in a total of $4,659,033 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries.

Each of the 88 counties received $30,000, for a county total of $2,640,000, while each of the 1,320 townships received $1,200, for a total of $1,584,000.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

Claim Solon Resisted Arrest

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Rep. John Melcher says he may have had a drink or two but he didn't create all the fuss Fairfax County police say he did.

Sheriff James D. Swinson said two deputies had to subdue the Montana Democrat and force him into a cell after he was arrested on drunken driving charges.

"What he was doing was raising hell. He was just a drunk and we accommodated him," Swinson said.

Swinson said the three-term congressman "used very obscene language" and refused to take a sobriety test. He was freed from the suburban Washington jail after posting a $50 bond early Wednesday.

Melcher conceded he had "two or three drinks" but denied he was uncooperative after being arrested for backing into a car in a parking lot.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Anyone who finds it hard to believe that the summer is gone will have their doubts dispelled tonight when the 1973 football season opens and the high school gridders move to center stage.

The boys are ready, the grass is cut, the seats are dusted and autumn is in the air. The lights go on tonight and the fall sport takes over.

It appears that the weatherman is going to cooperate and crisp autumn air should be on tap for players and fans alike.

The school bands have been hard at work and are all set to send their musical notes soaring into the skies which is always an added attraction for fans who fill the stadiums in anticipation of an exciting evening.

Don't just take these high school bands lightly as these kids have also been working hard and anyone who misses their halftimes shows is being cheated. They're great and seem to get better with each new season.

One of the best bargains on the market today is the price of a ticket to a high school game of your choice. It's excitement nonpareil and we wouldn't miss it for the world. When the opening whistle sounds, and the toe meets the football, we must admit we get chills and wouldn't have it any other way.

All these kids have put in a lot of time and suffered plenty of bruises but it all becomes worthwhile tonight.

It is their moment of glory and the only thing they ask is the backing of the fans. Pickaway County is blessed with fans who follow their teams, both home and away, and it is a gratifying thing to players and coaches alike.

So let's all get out tonight and back our teams. We'll see you at the ball park.

Our "fearless" forecast—Greyhounds can't escape the claws of the Tigers. Vikings will cruise at the expense of the Cruisers. Braves can unsaddle the Roughriders. Mustangs to make the Rockets fizzle.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

CHS Tigers Face Greyhounds

CIRCLEVILLE TIGERS

BY BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It should be a jam-packed stadium and a whale of a football game tonight at Circleville High School when the Tigers host the Greyhounds of Grove City in the season opener.

Grove City will bring a powerful unit of Roundtown with 29 lettermen returning from last year's squad which compiled a 10-0 record.

"We feel that we have an excellent chance of beating Grove City as our kids are ready, both physically and mentally, and can't wait for the opening whistle," Circleville Coach Larry Cook stated.

"Our winter and summer conditioning program has paid off and we are in top shape. This year's team has a lot of similarity to the 1972 squad but has more overall quickness," Cook commented. "The key to the game will be which team is able to avoid the big mistakes and play good field position football."

Grove City will not be any stranger to the Tigers as Circleville coaches have scouted all three of the Greyhound scrimmages.

It will be a good, solid football team with plenty of size that takes the field for Grove City. They have been established, along with Groveport, as the co-favorites in the Mid-8 League.

Basically a running team, the Greyhounds will use power sweeps and off tackle with their fullback. They are a "right handed" team as they like to run to the right with the tailback and fullback handling the football. Not a passing team, they will attempt to stay on the ground and play ball control football.

But the Tigers also can move the ball on the ground with their multiple formations, including belly, trap, power, counter and reserve series.

Although the Tigers will be giving up size to the Greyhounds, they will not be overmatched in quickness, conditioning and desire to play football. It will be a disciplined, well coached bunch of Cook's Chargers on display and the fans will be treated to a real show.

On defense, Circleville will utilize a 5-2-4 monster, 6-1 and 4-3-4 with a zone rotation pass defense in the secondary. The Tiger secondary will also go to man to man coverage when necessary.

One of the losses of the Tigers came at the hands of Grove City last year and the Red and Black gridders will be out to rectify this tonight. Circleville was 7-3 last season overall and took the South Central Ohio League title with a mark of 5-0.

Reggie Radcliff and John Ankrom will be co-captains of the 1973 Tigers with a third captain selected for each game by the Tiger coaching staff. Tonight's honors go to Rock Davis.

Reggie Radcliff or Pat McNaughton will handle the punting duties. Rock Davis will be the kickoff man with Phil Roll doing the extra point and field goal kicking.

With the weatherman providing what appears to be fine conditions for football, fans are urged to get there early as seats will be at a premium and an exciting football game is on tap.

Ohio Prep Teams Take To Gridirons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marion Pleasant, a small high school in Marion County, reaches for an unprecedented height Friday night when Ohio scholastic football teams start their 1973 seasons.

The Spartans can run their unbeaten record to 39 games with a triumph at home over Carey and snap a current tie for the all-time record with Massillon at 38 contests.

Coach Don Kay has only three regulars back from the team that zipped through a fourth straight season unbeaten and untied last fall, but one of the holdovers is talented quarterback Scott Ballenger.

The Marion County powerhouse also picked off the first Class A state football playoff title, added the state basketball tournament crown and finished second in the state track meet for an unparalleled year.

Warren Western Reserve is the defending Class AAA playoff king while Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary ruled Class AA football in 1972.

A total of 722 schools will play football with 265 in Class AAA, 264 in AA and 193 in A. The regular season runs through the weekend of Nov. 9-10, except for a handful of Thanksgiving games and city playoffs.

"There are very few changes in the football rules this year, nothing big that the spectator would notice," said Harold Meyer, the commissioner for the governing Ohio High School Athletic Association.

Meyer said the OHSAA would launch its computerized regional ratings that determine the playoff semifinals after the fourth weekend of games.

Teams will be limited to 10 regular season games, and the semifinals and finals will be staged the last two weekends in November.

The OHSAA will publish the point totals in its computer ratings this season. The points were not released in 1972.

The Associated Press will conduct its state-wide poll of sports writers and broadcasters to determine the regular season class champions. The ratings will begin after the third weekend of games.

"The only times tie breakers will be used will be in the playoffs," Meyer said. Schools, by mutual consent, were permitted to break regular season ties last fall with extra periods of play.

MAC Teams To Launch 27th Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mid-American Conference launches its 27th season Saturday for the first time as a 10-team league, but only six of the schools will count in the race this year.

Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Northern Illinois and Ball State, all admitted as new members in the last two years, are not eligible for the MAC chase, since they don't play a full conference schedule.

The new foursome is involved in a skimpy, three-game schedule that opens the 1973 season.

Central Michigan stays home to face Western Michigan, Ball State goes to Eastern Michigan and Northern Illinois entertains Indiana State, the lone nonmember involved in the first games.

Western Michigan is the only school eligible for the 1973 conference race so all of this week's openers are non-league contests.

The five other eligible members this fall, pre-season title favorites Kent State and Bowling Green as well as Miami (Ohio), Toledo and Ohio University, are idle.

Nine of the 10 MAC schools are active Saturday, Sept. 15. Bowling Green is at Syracuse, Louisville at Kent State, Dayton at Miami, Toledo at Tampa, Ball State at Central Michigan, Louisiana Tech at Eastern Michigan, Southern Illinois at Northern Illinois and Long Beach State at Western Michigan.

Ohio doesn't open its season until Saturday, Sept. 22, at home against Kent State.

College Gridders Open Campaigns

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hoping for revenge in September and its third national college football championship in four years come January, Nebraska opens the 1973 campaign Saturday against none other than UCLA—the team that knocked the Cornhuskers from the top last fall.

Efren Herrera's last-minute field goal gave UCLA a 20-17 triumph, ending the Cornhuskers' 32-game unbeaten streak and depositing them as the No. 1 team in the land following two consecutive national titles.

They never made it back to the top of The Associated Press poll and eventually finished fourth, the same place they're ranked in the current preseason ratings.

Gone from the Nebraska lineup are a quartet of super stars—Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers, Outland recipient Rich Glover, Willie Harper...and Coach Bob Devaney.

After 11 seasons as head coach, during which he compiled a brilliant 101-20-2 record, Devaney gave up the football job to devote full time to his duties as Nebraska's athletic director. He turned the coaching reins over to 34-year-old Tom Osborne, his hand-picked successor.

"Sure, it's a heck of a challenge and

Cowboys Edge Dolphins, 26-23

DALLAS (AP) — The world champion Miami Dolphins enter the 1973 regular National Football League season wondering where all their magic has gone.

Call it the Superbowl jinx or whatever, but the Dolphins have lost their touch to win in the crunch, a trait which carried them to 17 consecutive victories last year.

"It used to be that the Dolphins were pulling out victories at the end, but now it has turned against us," Miami Coach Don Shula said Thursday night after Tony Fritsch's 22-yard field goal in the final three seconds handed Dallas a 26-23 victory as both clubs closed out the NFL exhibition season.

Two weeks ago, Fred Cox of Minnesota toed a field goal at the final gun to give the Vikings a 20-17 victory over Miami, snapping a streak of 23 games without a loss.

Losses to Minnesota and Dallas came after Miami had built up huge leads. The Dolphins led Minnesota 17-3 before bowing, and they held a 23-6 lead over Dallas before melting to the Cowboys' second half charge led by Craig Morton.

Quarterback Earl Morrall, who played the second half for Miami, summed up how his team felt about losing the pressure cooker games: "It's kinda tough to lose by a pair of field goals right at the last."

Miami opponents said that all last season.

Miami opens the regular season a week from Sunday against San Francisco in the Orange Bowl while the Cowboys travel to Chicago.

Baltimore, winner of Superbowl V, and Dallas, 24-3 conqueror of Miami in Superbowl VI, both folded in a defense of their crowns.

The Kansas City Chiefs, hampered by an erratic offense which has produced just one victory in five preseason games, will rely on 38-year-old quarterback Len Dawson to call the plays Friday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dawson has quarterbacked the Chiefs only five quarters during the exhibition season and managed to complete six of 13 passes for 58 yards in Kansas City's 27-16 loss to Dallas last week.

The Cardinals have a 2-2 preseason record and probably will rely on a

OAC Schools Against Planned Athletic Act

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—The majority of the Ohio Athletic Conference schools oppose the proposed Amateur Athletic Act now pending in the U.S. Senate.

A telegram sent by several of the member schools to Ohio Sens. Robert Taft Jr. and William B. Saxbe urged the senators to oppose the bill.

a tough act to follow," admits the red-haired Osborne. "But our coaches and our players are anxious to do a good job and they believe in what our program means at Nebraska."

"Sometimes I wish we were opening with a weak team, but that's not possible," Osborne says. "UCLA was good enough to beat us last year and Coach Rodgers' team is better this year."

With quarterback Dave Humm hampered by elbow and knee ailments and possibly limited to only part-time duty, Nebraska may pass less and run more.

On the other hand, the 10th ranked UCLA Bruins, greatest rushing team in Pacific-8 Conference history, "have not changed anything except improve our passing game," according to Coach Pepper Rodgers.

The only other member of The AP's Top Twenty in action this weekend is No. 17 North Carolina State, which entertains East Carolina.

Other key contests on a 23-game schedule include Arizona at Colorado State, Citadel at Clemson, Drake at West Texas State, Holy Cross at Massachusetts, Louisville at Memphis State, Villanova at Mississippi, VMI at Virginia and William & Mary at Virginia Tech.

passing game sparked by quarterback Jim Hart who completed 18 of 48 passes for 257 yards in last week's 31-20 defeat by Chicago.

New England plays at Detroit and San Francisco is at Los Angeles in other Friday night games.

Saturday night Oakland is at Buffalo, Cincinnati hosts Green Bay, Cleveland and the New York Giants clash at Akron, Ohio, the New York Jets battle Philadelphia in Tampa, Fla., Atlanta is at Pittsburgh, San Diego welcomes Minnesota and Houston is at New Orleans.

Baltimore is at Denver Sunday afternoon and Chicago travels to Washington Sunday night.

Rain Has Never Halted Reds Since Move To Riverfront

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Let it rain, let it pour in Cincinnati these days—the Big Red Machine plays on.

The machine—the Cincinnati Reds of the National Baseball League—hasn't had a playing date cancelled due to rain since July 20, 1969. On that day the Reds were scheduled to play the Houston Astros at old Crosley Field. Then it rained, and the game was cancelled.

Since the Reds moved to Riverfront Stadium on the Ohio River in 1970, they've never had a playing date rained out. In a city that has almost 40 inches of rain annually—two inches above the national average—that's pretty good.

Dick Wagner, assistant to Bob Howsam, vice president and general manager, said the no-rainout string is due to Riverfront Stadium's AstroTurf field.

Wagner says the Reds probably would have been rained out eight times this year if they'd still been playing at Crosley Field.

Terry Barthelmas, stadium operations director, said any amount of rain can be cleared out in 45 minutes.

The Reds' ground crew uses a sweeper-like suction cleaner called the Zamboni to clear the field. Depending on the amount of water the Zamboni

Anderson Proud Of Battling Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Win or lose, Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson says "I'm more proud of this club than any I've coached—they're not going to quit."

The Reds, who have streaked into first place in the National League's Western Division with a September surge of seven straight victories, are winning with a strange mixture of pressure-tested veterans and some irrepressible youngsters.

"They just keep battling," said

Small Ohio College Slate Set Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ron Marciniak and Rey Dempsey make their college head coaching debuts Saturday on a limited opening Ohio college football schedule.

Only seven games are on the card, with Ohio State, MidAmerican Conference members Ohio University, Miami, Toledo, Kent State, Bowling Green and Toledo and major independent Cincinnati waiting at least one week to play.

Marciniak, an assistant to Alex Agase at Northwestern for the last three years, leads Dayton against Dempsey's visiting Youngstown State squad in a night contest.

In the only other game involving an Ohio major power, Xavier opens at Temple in another night assignment.

In other games, Akron is at Delaware, Franklin at Ashland (night), Olivet at Defiance and, Georgetown (Ky.) at Findlay (night) and Central State vs. Morehead State (night) at Ashland, Ky.

"I'm going with a wide open offense. We're definitely going to emphasize the passing game," said Marciniak, who succeeds John McVay in the Dayton job.

McVay now is the school's athletic director after posting a final season record of 4-6-1.

Dempsey, a former Bowling Green assistant taking over for the late Dike Beede, will accent defense at Youngstown.

Dempsey, whose Canton Central Catholic High School team posted eight shutouts in 1970, has eight defensive regulars back from a 4-4-1 Penguin team last year.

either throws water towards the fence or retains the water and disgorges it later.

Barthelmas said the machine is used on all AstroTurf fields and costs $25,000.

Rain actually helps the turf stay in good condition, he said. "If you let the field flood, it gets clean." He said this year the turf, which is similar to a carpet, looks greener than ever before.

Wagner, who usually makes the decision on whether to start a game during rainy weather, said the no-rainout record at Riverfront Stadium "means a lot to us." He said you have to "have a bit of gambler in you" to decide whether to call a game.

He said players and fans do not like to have to rearrange schedules when a game is postponed.

But he added he will end the team record only when common sense dictates a game cannot be played.

Jess Phillips Traded By Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jess Phillips, who knows something about second chances, heads for the New Orleans Saints today talking of opportunity.

"I think I'll have a great opportunity there," said Phillips, who was traded by the Cincinnati Bengals Thursday for two future draft choices.

Anderson.

The idle Reds stretched their lead to 2½ games Thursday by virtue of runnerup Los Angeles losing its seventh straight and open a four-game road series against Atlanta tonight.

There among the headline-stealing Pete Roses, Johnny Benches and Tony Perez are "the kids"—a commodity seldom turned to in the heat of a pennant race.

"They're amazing...unbelievable," said Anderson. "If they're living in a dream world, I don't want them to know about it."

He's referring to recently-promoted Ken Griffey, Ed Armbrister, and "vet" of the three months Dan Driessen. The three were promoted from Cincinnati's farm team Indianapolis. Driessen, 23, arrived first, in early June, when Anderson elected to gamble at getting more punch in the lineup. Driessen was hitting .409 at Indianapolis and moved into the lineup immediately, winning a starting job with a steady barrage of spray hits.

Two weeks ago, Griffey, 22, was promoted as a result of slumping Bobby Tolan's fiery feud with management. He responded with two or more hits in the first three games he started and hasn't cooled off. He's batting .516 with 16 hits in 31 at-bats.

Armbrister, 24, has only five hits for a .357 average, but two came in the Reds' series-opening victory over Houston this week, a sacrifice fly in the second game tied a game the Reds went on to win and his triple and home run in the third game helped cap a sweep that extended Cincinnati's longest win streak of the season.

Just nine weeks ago the Reds were on the verge of dropping out of sight in the Western Division. A 13th-inning loss to Los Angeles left them 11 games behind on June 30. But a doubleheader sweep keyed by third-string catcher Hal King's pinch hit homer in the ninth inning and a game-winning 10th-inning single by Perez pumped pride back into the National League champs.

Up until then it was beginning to look like a long season ahead.

The Reds had lost their best pitcher, Gary Nolan, in spring training with arm trouble. Highly-regarded Roger Nelson, acquired in a winter trade, had arm trouble and pitched in only 11 games before being shelved. Disaster struck again when shortstop Dave Concepcion, having his finest season, broke an ankle bone in mid-July.

Tolan was slump-ridden and Bench, the league's home run champ in 1972, was below-par, perhaps from the effects of a serious winter operation.

Anderson never wavered, proudly predicting the Reds would be in it at the end. An onrush of 32 victories in 42 games thrust Cincinnati back into the thick of it. A trade for a 5-foot-8 pitcher with only 14 career victories solidified a sputtering staff and has been referred to as the turning point. Fred Norman, 1-7 for the San Diego Padres, reeled off back-to-back shutouts and was 9-2 as a Red two months after the trade.

The Reds led the west for three days in April and once in May before their dogged pursuit of league-leading San Francisco and later Los Angeles.

"It's funny," Norman reflected on the pennant push. "The guys just have realized they should have been up here all along. The pride has bubbled. They don't want it to get away."

The pretty red haired lassies of Mike and Marsha McCafferty proved to mom and dad they can "pull" a surprise party quite neatly. For the fiftieth anniversary of the McCafferty duo, Kathy, Kelly, and Kim made all the plans for the big day last Sunday.

Mint green and yellow were the decorative colors used throughout the home complete with a huge sign to commemorate the occasion. Punch, cake, mints, and nuts were served to the honored guests, Bob and Iris Garrison and family, Charlie and Esther Picklesimer and Faith Ann, Harvey and Margene Looney and Jamey.

Lowell and Sally Whitt, Betty Jo, Barbara, and Brenda of Amherst were in our village during the holiday weekend to spend time with Sally's folks, A. J. and Juanita Cook and Shana Willis, Grandpa Harry Keller, Uncle Jr. and Loretta Keller and Lana, Uncle Bill and Norman Keller and their family. They also were in Portsmouth to be with the Whitt side of the house before returning to their home.

Getting in a last-minute-before-school starts vacation with grandma Una Higman was young Brent Hosler, son of Harry and Myrna of Circleville. Brent visited from Saturday until Monday. On Sunday his cousins, Lora, Sam and Tom Higman of Washington Court House came to grandmother's to spend the day, too.

Mrs. Josephine Haller, daughter Patti and son Bobby are back in town after a lengthy stay with relatives in Mexico. The smaller Haller children are still in Mexico where Josephine will return after getting Patti and Bobby settled in school here.

Ron Bush, Eileen Easterday, John and Sue Graffis were in Millersport on Friday evening to attend the Sweet Corn Festival and confer with officials in regard to festival matters.

On Sunday Ron and Marilyn Bush traveled to West Liberty for an antique engine show.

An Antique Engine Show is one of the new attractions to be at the Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival on Saturday and Sunday this year so all you engine buffs come on out and look the situation over.

Esther Reed and her youngsters, Roberta and Jeff, thoroughly enjoyed a memory making vacation to California. Flying jet they went to Los Angeles and "put up" with Esther's sister, Luella Lichtenwaldt in Cypress. Then they proceeded to Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, Japanese Village, Lion Country Safari, Wax Museum and many other places of interest.

Time was spent at Sea World in San Diego and they also crossed over the border and had a day at Tiajuana, Mexico. The Busch Gardens and Magic Mountain were two favorites and young Jeff got a taste of deep sea fishing and had the thrill of catching seven varieties of specimens from the briny deep.

Our good neighbor Ruth Plummer has returned from several weeks of being in Orlando, Fla. with her niece, June Hamilton Huber, who underwent major surgery for carcinoma of the foot. June is a local girl who graduated from Williamsport schools and her friends can send cards for good cheer to her at 6405 Ramir Road, Orlando, Fla., 32800.

Papa Jack and Aunt Gladys Arledge were pleased to have their son Harry of Delaware be with them this past Saturday.

Our town's handsome octogenarian, Arthur Frazier, had the pleasure of his children's company for the holiday week-end. Coming over from Angola, Ind., were Ray and Helen Shoemaker, Thurman Frazier and Ray Frazier. They were here from Saturday until Tuesday.

On Sunday, Wilbur of New Holland and Edwin who is with his father, joined with all the others for dinner. Later in the day Mrs. Betty Frazier and daughter Marsha of Washington Court House stopped by. Marsha will be a senior this year at Kent State.

Poppy Bill and Becki (Easterday, that is) journeyed to Portland, Ind. for the eighth annual Tri-State Antique Engine Show held August 24-26. There are also vast displays of antiques and hobbies of all descriptions at this affair. Poppy Bill has been a member of the Tri-State organization for six years.

Last Thursday evening we Easterdays (dad, mon, Becki and Amy) saw the performance of "Tecumseh" and loved every minute of it. I only regret we were unable to go earlier in the season so I could persuade more friends to attend. Stupendous! Fantastic! Marvelous! The location has special meaning to us since a portion of the amphitheater is on my late great-grandfather's farm. When it begins next summer please do not hesitate to go— you will be so glad you did.

Chariman by the score are making ready for the third annual Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival to be held Sept. 12 - 16 (that's next week folks) In turn the chairmen are contacting community minded persons who are willing to give a hand in the operation so all in all everyone in town and surrounding gets in the act.

Congress Tinkers With Amtrak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is tinkering with the Amtrak law again in a continuing effort to improve America's passenger train service.

A controversial provision on auto-ferry service, a restricted right of eminent domain, and a revamped board of directors providing greater consumer representation were among key features of Amtrak legislation ready for a House vote.

It would authorize a $107.3 million federal funds ceiling during the year which began July 1, and would boost loan guarantee authority from the present $200 million to a proposed $250 million. This compared with Senate-passed figures of $185 million as the funds ceiling and $500 million in loan guarantees.

Under the 1970 Amtrak law, the National Railroad Passenger Corp.—Amtrak's formal name—began operating in May 1971 through a governmentbacked program aimed at saving intercity train-rider services along specific corridors.

Amtrak began life with a $40 million federal grant, payments of $197 million from participating railroads, and $100 million in federally guaranteed loans. The loan figure was doubled last year.

The funds ceiling-setting bill last year pegged a figure of $227 million in additional funds, but the actual appropriation was $179 million—and the President impounded $10 million of this. This year, the Nixon administration requested an opened authorization but estimated Amtrak would need at least $93 million to operate.

Amtrak "deserves another year of federal funding in order to provide the type of service envisioned by Congress when it established this novel and complex corporation in 1970," Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said in a report on the bill.

The legislation would give Amtrak some power of eminent domain so it could acquire right-of-way, land or other property— except any property owned by a railroad or a government agency. Essentially, the backers of the bill reported, this would grant Amtrak an authority similar to that accorded railroads and public utilities under state law.

A major dispute centers on a Senate-passed provision giving a break to Auto Train Corp. and any other private company that may want to set up train service for passengers seeking to take their cars with them.

The House committee modified this provision so that it specifically lets Amtrak give auto-ferry service and limits the ability of others to compete along Amtrak routes without a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission and without satisfying certain criteria.

Reds Infiltrate

Kompong Cham

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Khmer Rouge insurgents today infiltrated into Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city, and battled government troops in the streets around the central market, Western sources reported.

The sources said the insurgents also committed "acts of terrorism, shooting some civilians and throwing hand grenades."

There was no report of casualties.

First reports said the Khmer Rouge also occupied part of the local university, on the western edge of the town, and cut the road to the airport three miles northwest of the town. But the airport had been closed to traffic for days because of the insurgents' shelling.

Kompong Cham, a town of 70,000 on the Mekong River 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, has been under siege for three weeks by an estimated 5,000 to 8,000 insurgents. Its capture would be a psychological boost to the Khmer Rouge and would also remove a threat to their supply lines in that area.

One Western source said the situation was "extremely fluid" and the extent of the Khmer Rouge infiltration was not known.

Sixteen helicopters loaded with government troops were flown to the embattled town.

Another government setback was reported northwest of Phnom Penh, where the Khmer Rouge cut the capital's rice supply line again.

board-of-directors membership from the present 15 to a proposed 17, providing for three consumer representatives instead of the current one. The bill also establishes passenger train preference over freight trains except in emergencies, and provides procedures for Amtrak to operate trains at faster speeds.

He said one of those talks included an all-evening “social occasion” during the 10-day period he was in Ohio last month.

Gilligan Notes 'Achievements'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan outlined his administration’s “achievements” today in a speech prepared for a statewide meeting of the Carpenters Union at Cincinnati’s Convention Center.

Gilligan, already announced as a candidate for re-election, said his administration has waged a successful battle to reform taxes in order to bring many new benefits to “the average working man and woman in Ohio.”

Among them, he said, were improved workmen’s compensation and unemployment benefits, improvements in industrial safety, a new minimum wage law, consumer protection legislation, and others, including improved programs in mental health and anti pollution.

The governor gave credit to the people of Ohio—who rejected a ballot proposal to repeal the state income tax enacted during his administration—for “having the courage to recognize the need for improved services and to accept their share of paying for those services.”

As a result of the income tax and accompanying tax relief in other areas, Gilligan said the average worker was paying an additional 40 cents a week in taxes but that Ohio families are “benefitting far beyond that contribution.”

U.S. Moves Slowly On Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The “highest priority” President Nixon has placed on making progress toward a Mideast settlement won’t be translated into action for at least two or three months.

The main reason for not moving faster is the lack of a solid plan for getting negotiations started between Israel and the Arab nations, administration officials say.

Another reason given is the lack of confidence concerning American ability to influence either side to accept any proposal. The two sides disagree on preconditions for negotiations. Israel is willing to talk with no prior conditions, but the Arabs insist that Israel agree before negotiations begin to withdraw from territory conquered in 1967.

Nixon told his news conference Wednesday that both sides are at fault for the impasse. He added that American concern over possible shortages of Mideast oil has made finding a settlement the “highest priority.”

But the officials in charge of finding the way to a settlement feel November or even December will be the earliest they will have any plans in shape.

First, they want to evaluate the conversations among the hundred or so foreign ministers who will attend the United Nations General Assembly this month.

The Mideast and the related oil situation is expected to dominate the U.N. meeting and may result in a full Assembly debate.

If that occurs, it won’t be before October and American policymakers feel they must hold back any plans until the debate is over.

Yellowknife, a city of 5,000 is the largest center in the North-west Territories.

Another reason for delay is to evaluate the Israeli election on Oct. 29. In addition, the administration admittedly faces problems in making its influence felt.

Nixon acknowledged the United States lacks strong influence among the Arabs.

This leaves Israel as the main target of Nixon’s determination to find a way of influencing the Mideast situation, U.S. officials say.

Israeli sources in Washington, however, say that while they are sympathetic to the United States, their government will act only in its own interests and not because of American pressure.

Nine Teachers Are Not Answering Ring Of School Bells This Season

As school resumes, several familiar faces are missing from the faculty line up.

Nine Pickaway County teachers announced their retirements in late spring and summer, giving up teaching careers which some had held for 30 or 40 years.

Closing out their years in education are J. L. Chilcote, former principal and teacher at Circleville; Neale Phillips, Helen Davis and Janet Boggs, also teachers at Circleville; Ruth Notestone and Mae Johnson, teachers in the Logan Elm District; Mrs. Florence McGhee of Westfall and Marvine Kraft and Charlotte Haydon, Teays Valley teachers.

The single retiree from Westfall, Mrs. Florence McGhee, gave up the career to which she had devoted 35 years.

A native of this area, Mrs. McGhee graduated from Walnut Twp. High and attended Pickaway County Normal School for one year, returning to Walnut to teach for five years.

For thirty years, she has taught in classrooms in the Atlanta, Williamsport and Jackson Elementary

Woodcock Blacks Out Auto Talks

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Leonard E. Woodcock says he hopes implementation of a partial news blackout will prod contract talks with Chrysler Corp.

Woodcock announced on Wednesday a blackout on information about the status of economic issues and said it may be extended to cover the union's most controversial demand — voluntary overtime.

"It is designed to get the bargaining out of the area of 'It's your move. It's my move. It's our move' and into honest discussion," he said.

A total news blackout is usually imposed during final stages of auto talks. But Woodcock said such a move now "would tell our workers we are on the way home. And right now, we're not."

Woodcock's announcement came after he marched with thousands of white collar auto workers during a rally at Chrysler headquarters.

UAW officials said the demonstration was designed to show support for union leadership and major contract demands.

Judge Blocks Prison Inmate's Bid For Parole

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The parole process for an inmate of the Ohio State Reformatory has been stopped temporarily by a state appeals court judge at the request of Richland County prosecutor William McKee.

Presiding Judge Norman Putman of the 5th District Court of Appeals issued a temporary restraining order Thursday blocking state officials from considering the parole of Michael Paris.

Paris, convicted of armed robbery in Richland County, was scheduled for parole consideration Sept. 10.

McKee contended in the suit that Paris was up for parole too early in his prison term. Paris began a 10-25-year sentence in October 1970.

The prosecutor said Paris has served 35 months when state law requires him to serve 76 months before being considered for parole.

Schools, before and after the Westfall Local District was founded.

While teaching, she continued her college training, receiving her bachelor degree in education from Ohio University in 1961.

Mrs. McGhee and her husband George live at Route 1, Williamsport.

Thirty-nine years in education is the record claimed by Mrs. Jack (Ruth) Notestone, of Laurelville. She retired this year from a first grade post at Saltcreek which she had held eight years. The other 31 years she taught at Laurelville and South Bloomingville, grades one through four.

She is a graduate of South Bloomingville School and entered Ohio University immediately following high school. She earned her bachelor degree there and returned to South Bloomingville to teach.

Mrs. Notestone plans to do substitute teaching, but will primarily keep herself busy keeping house and doing many of the things she did not have time to do while teaching.

Mrs. Mae Johnson, who lives in South Bloomingville with her husband Glenn, closed opt 22½ years of teaching this spring. Except for two years she taught at St. John's School in Benton Twp. (where she was the only teacher for all eight grades), all her teaching has been done at Laurelville.

She holds a degree from Ohio University, earned during the summer, at night and at the branch campuses. She completed the required courses and graduated in 1961, some 34 years after beginning as a teacher.

Part of that 34 years was spent raising her family of four boys, all who have followed their mother in education. Dale is now principal at Rockbridge; Leonard is an industrial arts teacher at Zane trace and Leland and Winfield are pursuing careers as missionary-teachers in New Guinea after being teachers in stateside schools.

Helping her husband with his ministry should help Mrs. Johnson keep her mind off of the school term which she will not be a part of this year.

Forty-two years of "not-exactly planned" teaching was given by Marvine Kraft, Ashville, who retired at age 70 this year.

A 1921 graduate of Circleville High School, she received further education at Laura Menguer's Normal School at Ashville and later earned a degree by attending Wittenberg College part time and during the summer.

As the eldest daughter of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. John Mader, Mrs. Kraft found it necessary to seek employment in her early years. For 11 years before and after her marriage, although it was unusual in those times to have a married woman in a teaching post, she taught first grade at Walnut, Franklin and High Street Elementaries in Circleville.

Her husband Claude was offered a position at the Ashville Bank, bringing

Amtrack Programs Told To Rotary

Rotarians heard the latest information on Amtrack Thursday from Joe Pallard, sales representative from Cincinnati.

Pallard told the club that the federal government foresaw the continued need of the railroad and provides financial subsidies through the Am-track program.

A 12 per cent increase has been noted in railcoach transportation in the past year, Pallard noted and explained that travel agents are now scheduling tours that provide the vacationer with more freedom and a better view than can be had via air travel.

Bob Burton reported an excellent turnout at the recent visit of the Bloodmobile.

about the family's move to that area in 1941. She was called back to teaching by the superintendent when a vacancy existed in the first grade classroom at Ashville. For 31 years she kept that post, walking out her back door and down the alley to the school.

She is mother of two children, Dave, an attorney in Ashville, and Mrs. Ann Weekly, of Westerville, and is grandmother to six youngsters.

Helen Davis, retiring Circleville Junior High math teacher, lives in Kingston with her husband Leo.

Her thirty years of teaching began in Marysville in Union County where she taught math for six years. She then taught in grades five through nine in Kingston four years, coming to Circleville immediately following.

She also taught one year at Garrettsville, near Cleveland and a year at Milford Center in Union County during her early teaching years. Her career has been interrupted by breaks when she quit to marry and raise her family.

Mrs. Davis studied for her degree at Ohio State University and Ohio University.

She has offered to substitute teach, Mrs. Davis reports, to keep her fingers in the pie, but primarily she intends to spend her retirement just enjoying herself.

Retirement for Mrs. Charlotte Haydon has already proved delightful. The summer of travel with her husband Bill and a "no-hurry" schedule is extremely enjoyable, Mrs. Haydon notes.

A teacher with 26 years under her belt, Mrs. Haydon gave up her career this spring when she retired as first grade teacher at Scioto. She received training for her career at the Cincinnati Kindergarten Primary Training School, Wilmington and Wittenberg Colleges.

A "professional" first grade teacher, she taught that grade in Madison County, at South Solon, at South Amherst and then went into a temporary "retirement" when she married. At that time only single women were employed as teachers.

After travelling with her husband and the Army, and devoting some time to the new additions to their family, she resumed teaching at Derby. After seven years there, she took several years off, then accepted the position at Scioto School.

Her two daughters have contributed two grandsons to the Haydons' family who will very likely hold a large part of their grandmother's interest during her retirement years—along with travel and antique shows.

Mrs. Janet Boggs has taught many subjects in her 32-year career, but primarily she instructed students in the field of social studies.

Her first job after receiving her degree at Western College for Women at Oxford was at Darby Twp. School, teaching English. She has taught at a number of schools, including Washington Twp. High School and Stoutsville, but during most of her career, 20 years to be exact, she has been at Circleville.

Her retirement involves going into another line of work. She will devote full-time efforts now to the clothing shop she and her husband Charles operate in downtown Circleville.

Twenty-two years of active teaching and many years as a substitute teacher brought Mrs. Neale Phillips up to 1973, when she retired as seventh grade English teacher at Circleville Junior High.

Mrs. Phillips is a native of Gloucester, in Athens County, and graduated from Ohio University. Her first teaching job was at Junction City, Ohio.

She spent a year there, then was attracted to Pickaway County through a friend, also a teacher. Both obtained jobs at Ashville School. Mrs. Phillips remained there for four years, then left teaching to tend to housekeeping and raising a family. During that period she remained a part of the education system by offering her services as a substitute.

She returned full time 17 years ago, accepting a post in the Circleville City School System. During her many years, she has taught English, Latin, French, history and home economics.

She reports no great plans for her "freedom" years, but reaffirmed her faith in youth, the reason she remained in teaching for so many years.

A one-room school and 68 students in the first eight grades at Sams Creek in Hocking County's Saltcreek Twp. was the beginning of J. L. Chilcote's teaching career. His service to education has spanned 42 years, with four years off to serve in the U. S. Army during World War II.

At that time, a high school diploma and one or two years of study at college would qualify a person to teach. He attended Ohio University prior to accepting his first job in 1931, then continued studies at Wilmington and OU, earning his degree from the latter college.

After one year at Sams Creek, (where the students taught the teacher, he recalls) Chilcote accepted a fulltime teaching job at Jackson Twp., where he also served as fulltime elementary principal.

He came to Circleville in 1936 and remained in that district until his retirement. He returned in the spring of 1946 after four years in the military to resume teaching.

In 1948 he was made principal of the Corwin St. wing of what is now the junior high and was also given the new Corwin Elementary to supervise when it was built in 1956. During this time he also remained in the classroom.

The year 1962 moved Chilcote to South Court Street Elementary along with all seventh grade students of the city. Although principal of the entire building, he tended at least two classes of seventh grade math students.

His service in the classroom ended in 1966 when he and the seventh graders were returned to the Everts building which had been converted to a junior high for grades 7, 8 and 9. His duties as principal occupied his full time until his retirement this summer.

Life without all his students will be different for Chilcote and he admits that he will miss his close contact with the youth. But his paint business and hunting and fishing expeditions will help occupy those hours he formerly spent in school buildings.

Sternwheelers Survive, Work In Ohio River Tributaries

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The normally sluggish Kanawha River turns to foam as the Robin D and the Winnie Mae race neck-and-neck for the finish line, only a few yards of choppy water separating their water-level decks.

Astern, clouds of spray trail from the beating paddlewheels that drive these survivors of riverboating's earlier days.

Big tugs moved by diesel-driven propellers have taken over most of the heavy jobs on America's inland waterways. But sternwheelers — with diesel engines instead of steam boilers — survive and work in areas like this tributary of the Ohio River.

And once a year they're cleaned and their engines tuned and their captains become sworn enemies for Charleston's annual Sternwheel Regatta on Labor Day Weekend.

The Robin D, a large threedeck boat refitted into a virtual pleasure boat, has come to the regatta each of its

Ohio GOP Women Open Workshops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Federation of Republican Women's fall conference opened today with a series of workshops and an evening banquet featuring Mary Brooks, director of the Bureau of the Mint, as speakers.

Pat Smith of Worthington, publicity director for the conference, said Watergate will probably get some attention, but it will not be emphasized.

Mrs. Smith said workshops today were to deal with education and bias and permissiveness in the media.

Among the guests at the banquet will be several Republican dignitaries, including Lt. Gov. John W. Brown.

The Winnie Mae has won the race twice, but this year Capt. P. A. "Pete" Denny guided the Robin D to victory in the 2.7-mile race.

In all, nine sternwheelers raced this year, including the Reed Lee from the Ohio River port of Cincinnati. They ran in three heats with escorts of small powerboats skipping in and out of their wakes.

Capp erects and closes in the home on your lot. You do the finishing and save a bundle. Or sub-contract the finishing and still save 20%.

By the way, since this house isn't all finished and prettied up with fancy furniture, you'll also be able to examine our workmanship and materials very closely. We figure a Capp Home doesn't have to be finished to look impressive.

So come on. Get the inside story on Capp Homes.

New Probation Officer Given Post With Common Pleas Court

A second full-time probation officer has been assigned to Pickaway County to assist in the huge case load and help carry the burden of presentence investigations for the common pleas court.

Helmut Peter Welker assumed the new position Aug. 6 and is serving in this county as a representative of the Adult Parole Authority.

Welker joins Frank Hudson and Ron Shanbrom, who already serve on the local staff. Shanbrom is also an employee of the APA, working in both Pickaway and Franklin Counties.

Hudson and Shanbrom have had charge of some 120 probationers, which the state considers to be an unwieldy amount for proper supervision. Welker's services, fully financed by the state, will greatly assist the probation program locally.

His first four weeks "on the job" included traveling in the field with seven other officers in the APA probation unit. This provided Welker the opportunity to observe other supervisory programs in action and offer basic guidelines for him in setting up his own program.

Welker is a native-born Austrian, but his parents moved to Springfield, Ohio, while he was still an infant. His American citizenship was authorized at the time his parents became naturalized Americans.

Springfield has been his home nearly all his life. He graduated from Springfield North High School in June 1969, and entered Kent State University. His interest in law enforcement led him to specialize in criminal justice studies for which he earned a degree this summer.

Deciding that the role of a police officer was not his goal, Welker began scheduling interviews with other agencies in this field. He also turned down a position as a federal corrections officer, but was impressed with

Ohio Amtrak Revenues Show Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study by the Public Utilities Commission indicates that Amtrak rail passenger service in Ohio has shown an increase in revenues and ticket sales, Commission Chairman Edmund J. Turk said Thursday.

Turk said the study "would not support the claim put forth by some that Amtrak was not generating revenue."

He said revenues and ticket sales jumped 27 per cent from June 1971 to June 1973.

Amtrak announced plans last month to stop the National Limited line through Dayton and Columbus. However, the rail company said Aug. 31 it would drop the proposal.

If Amtrak had followed through with its proposal, Turk said the company would have faced a battle in Ohio.

"Of more than 600 responses we have had thus far from residents of Columbus and Dayton, only three persons have recommended discontinuances," he said. "The overwhelming response has been in favor of not only continuing the present service, but expanding the service."

Turk added, "The people of Ohio were vocal in their support for the continuation of this section of the Amtrak line. I believe this showed the company that they were not going to remove that service without a battle."

The National Limited links New York and Washington, D.C., with the West Coast.

Brennan Fought Pay Bill Veto

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Labor Peter Brennan said Thursday that he opposed President Nixon's veto of the minimum wage bill.

"I am the only member of the cabinet," Brennan told the convention of the Ohio State Council of Carpenters, "who opposed the veto."

"I told them that I don't see how you can tell a guy who is making a $1.60 an hour that he is causing inflation. I don't see how he survives anyway."

Brennan said he disagreed with the President's economists that the minimum wage bill would be inflationary.

"But then I seldom agree with economists and they seldom agree with each other," he said. "I am a labor man and I still see things from our point of view."

Brannan arrived in Cincinnati after a speech to the New York AFL-CIO Council. He was scheduled to address the National Association of Businessmen in Detroit later today.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Sam (Margie) Wiggins, Route 4, Circleville, is a surgical patient in University Hospital, Columbus. She is in room 689.

Richard Asher, New Holland, has been transferred from Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H. to room 944, Grant Hospital, Columbus.

PROBATION STAFF — Helmut Peter Welker, standing, discusses his new position as Pickaway County Probation Officer with Ron Shanbrom, part-time probation officer for this county. Both are employed by the Adult Parole Authority, a state agency, and assigned here to assist Frank Hudson with the increasing load of probationers for the common pleas court.

the Parole Authority's job offer.

The fact that Circleville is a smaller city also appealed to him. In a community of this size, he hopes to develop more personal relationships with the prosecutor and officers of law enforcement agencies.

Welker is already assigned to 20 probationers. He will share with Hudson and Shanbrom the new cases as they come from the court and assist in background investigations for those scheduled to be sentenced.

He is making plans to move to Circleville and become a part of this community.

Mrs. William A. Myers Named To Health Care Task Force

Mrs. William A. Myers, 560 Lawnwood Court, has been appointed by Governor John Gilligan to the Task Force on Health Care.

It is the purpose of the Task Force to study the entire scope of health care in Ohio and to recommend whatever changes, programs or new directions might be necessary to improve the delivery of health care to Ohio citizens.

The Task Force, chaired by Frank Celeste of Cleveland, is now at the halfway point in its activities.

Divided into five subcommittees: Manpower, Costs and Financing, Quality, Planning and Organization, the Task Force and its staff have spent the months since March gathering and developing data, bearing presentations, and developing the issues upon which the Task Force will make recommendations. Mrs. Myers is a member of the Quality subcommittee.

Information has been gathered from throughout the state including the testimony given at public hearings held around Ohio in April and May.

The cooperation the Task Force has received from Ohio Hospital Association, Ohio State Medical Association, organized labor and the general public has enabled its staff to develop the most extensive and updated information base on Ohio health care in existence.

By the end of September work on defining the issues the Task Force will address should be completed. The remaining meetings in October, November, and December will be used to develop recommendations for action.

Celeste has expressed the hope the Task Force's report will be ready in time for the Governor to develop legislative proposals for the second session of the 110th General Assembly beginning in January, 1974.

Prior to being appointed to the Task Force on Health Care Mrs. Myers has served as president to the Pickaway County Medical Auxiliary, president to the General Guild of Berger Hospital, as a member of the Board of Directors of the Pickaway County Family Planning Association, Board of Directors of PICCA, as District Director, Director at Large, and Treasurer to the Woman's Auxiliary to the Ohio State Medical Association.

County To Receive Intangible Tax

Pickaway County will receive $155,366.82 in the distribution of $75,391,856.27 in revenue from the intangible tax on financial institutions and securities dealers, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The amount each county receives annually in tangible tax revenues is based on the number, capital and investments of financial institutions and securities dealers located in, or doing business in, that county.

The intangible tax rate is three mills per dollar on the worth of shares of, capital employed by and interest earned on capital employed by financial institutions and six mills per dollar on worth of shares of and capital employed by securities dealers.

However, the counties only shared in the revenue raised by two mills on financial institutions and five mills on securities dealers. The remaining revenue went into the state general fund.

E. W. Seeds Retires From Citizens Bank

The Board of Directors of the Citizens Bank, Ashville, has announced the retirement of E. W. Seeds, executive vice president, effective Sept. 15.

The board elected Eugene Wilson to succeed Seeds as executive vice president. Wilson, a native of Ashville, began his banking career in 1950 with the Second National Bank of Circleville and joined the Citizens Bank in February 1970.

Explosion Causes Damage

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James C. Deal investigated an explosion in a barn, 5:35 a.m. Friday at the Delbert Neff residence, Route 1, Orient.

Investigating Deputy Deal found that an air compressor outfit plugged into a wall socket was apparently left on.

The compressor caused the pump to build up pressure and explode throwing pieces of the compressor 30 feet across the barn.

One end of the tank was blown out and considerable damage was done to two large fiberglass doors.

There was apparently no fire after the explosion, but a circuit box which the compressor was plugged into was knocked off the wall.

Strike Hits Paper Mills

IROQUOIS FALLS, Ont. (AP) — About 1,000 members of the United Paperworkers International Union struck the Iroquois Falls division of the Abitibi Paper Co. today following a breakdown in contract negotiations in Toronto.

The action will further reduce the supply of Canadian newsprint to American newspapers.

A union spokesman said strikes at the company's eight other divisions are likely to follow, possibly on a rotating basis.

Abitibi's mills had been closed for more than a week by the national rail strike because it couldn't transport its newsprint. The company's three mills in northern Ontario reopened this week when the trains began to move again, but a mill in Manitoba is still closed down because railway workers in that area are holding out.

The chief issues in the Abitibi dispute involve fringe benefits, pensions, vacation pay, overtime pay and accident and health insurance programs.

Requests For Release From Sentences Denied

Four appeals for shock probation were denied by Judge William Ammer yesterday in Common Pleas Court. Michael Earl Mango, Harvey Clayton Griffith, Billy Eugene Queen and Charles Kuhn requested early release from prison sentences.

Mango is currently serving a 1-20 year sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men on a charge of first degree manslaughter stemming from the death of a young child in Williamsport.

The 1-7 year sentence of Charles Kuhn was not set aside as requested. Kuhn is serving the sentence for grand larceny in the Ohio Penitentiary.

A petition to have the sentence set aside for Harvey Clayton Griffith was also overruled by Ammer. Griffith was convicted of breaking and entering a uninhabited building in the night season and is serving a 1-15 year term in Mansfield.

Billy Eugene Queen is serving on the 1-20 year sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary for forgery. Ammer's denial of Queen's request was based on the fact that the defendant had similar offenses in other counties.

Shock probation can be applied for after 30-60 days in the penal institution on first offenses. The basis for the appeal is the convict has been so shocked at the atmosphere of being confined that he is unlikely to commit another crime.
